NON-GAAP MEASURES

There are measures included in this MD&A that do not have a standardized meaning under generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) and therefore may not be comparable to similarly-titled measures and metrics presented by other issuers and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for measures of performance prepared in accordance with GAAP. In particular, "working capital", "EBITDA", and "revenue per view" or "RPV" are non-GAAP measures. Enthusiast Gaming includes these measures because it believes certain investors use these measures and metrics as a means of assessing financial performance and that such measures highlight trends in the Company's financial performance that may not otherwise be apparent when one relies solely on GAAP measures.

The non-GAAP measures presented in the MD&A are as follows:

- i. "Working capital", which refers to current assets minus current liabilities;
- ii. "EBITDA", which represents net income before interest, income taxes, depreciation and amortization, with potential adjustments for certain non-core or non-operational items; and
- iii. "Revenue per viewer or ("RPV")" which is measured as the Company's media revenue plus certain categories of eSports revenue including sponsorship and streaming revenue, the sum of which is then divided by the average monthly viewers over the indicated period. In the case of an interim three-month period, the quotient is multiplied by four to produce an annualized figure.

In 2018, approximately 55,000 people attended two EGLX events and the Company continues to explore opportunities to grow its entertainment division to coincide with the significant growth of its platform online. Following the success of the two events 2018, EGLX 2019 was brought back to the Metro Toronto Convention Centre with double the floor space. The 2019 EGLX had in excess of 30,000 attendees and featured over 150 exhibitors, panels, cosplay, free play, the Artist Alley, an Indie Corner and a Family Zone.

LIVE EVENT ACTIVATIONS

The Company's wholly-owned EG Live subsidiary successfully hosted two major EGLX events in 2018 and one major EGLX event in 2019. The first 2018 event was held at The International Centre in March which attracted 24,000 attendees and exhibitors and welcomed Bell Canada as its title sponsor for the first time. Building on the momentum, the Company moved its event to the larger Metro Toronto Convention Centre in October 2018 and welcomed over 30,000 more attendees and exhibitors over the three-day event, selling out on Saturday and reaching venue capacity. Following the success of the two EGLX events in 2018, EGLX 2019 was brought back to the Metro Toronto Convention Centre with double the floor space. The 2019 EGLX event featured over 150 exhibitors, panels, cosplay, free play, the Artist Alley, an Indie Corner and a Family Zone. The Company is currently assessing the impact 'COVID-19' will have on its live events, see discussion under Other Risk and Uncertainty relating to 'COVID-19'.

Over the past two years, EGLX has expanded its sponsorship partners to include, Bell, Ubisoft Canada, CIBC, HP Omen, MSI, Nintendo, Warner Brothers, Alibaba, eBay, LG, HP, Microsoft, Cineplex, Sun Life Financial and OverActive Media, while also hosting Canada's largest eSports tournament, WESG Finals - the World Electronic Sports Games "WESG", Olympic-style eSports competition, hosting the inaugural Rising Stars Tournament with a $40,000 prize pool and a sponsorship deal with Enthusiast Gaming's eSports Division, Luminosity Gaming. Combined during 2018 and 2019, the events reached over 1 million online viewers, watching live streams of its eSports competitions on Twitch as well as the Company's digital properties. The Company intends to explore adding additional consumer focused live events globally, including a possible EGLX expansion to the US, once the public gathering restrictions surrounding the COVID-19 pandemic are lifted.

The Company also hosts approximately 30 B2B focused events globally each year. The leading series of these events, PG (Pocket Gamer) Connects, is an international series of B2B events for the global mobile games industry. Management Discussion and Analysis

For the Three and Six Months Ended June 30, 2020

FINANCIAL CONDITION, LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES (Continued)

Capital Management

The Company considers its capital structure to consist of shareholders' equity, long-term debt and convertible debentures. The Company manages its capital structure and makes adjustments to it, in order to have the funds available to support the acquisition and development of its business. The Board of Directors does not establish quantitative return on capital criteria for management, but rather relies on the expertise of the Company's management to sustain future development of the business.

The Company is dependent on external equity financing to fund its activities. In order to carry out the planned operations and pay for administrative costs, the Company will spend its existing working capital and raise additional amounts as needed. Management reviews its capital management approach on an ongoing basis and believes that this approach, given the relative size of the Company, is reasonable. There were no changes in the Company's approach to capital management during the six months ended June 30, 2020. Neither the Company nor its subsidiaries are subject to externally imposed capital requirements aside from the covenants described in Note 13 of the condensed consolidated interim financial statements.

The Company's objective when managing capital is to safeguard the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Company's ability to raise future capital is subject to uncertainty and the inability to raise such capital may have an adverse impact over the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

ADOPTION OF NEW OR AMENDED STANDARDS

IFRS 3, Business Combinations (amendment):

In October 2018, the International Accounting Standards Board (“IASB”) issued amendments to IFRS 3, incorporated into Part I of the CPA Canada Handbook – Accounting by the Accounting Standards Board in December 2018. The amendments clarify the definition of a business, permitting a simplified assessment to determine whether a transaction should be accounted for as a business combination or as an asset acquisition. The amendments were effective for transactions for which the acquisition date is on or after the beginning of the first annual reporting period beginning on or after January 1, 2020 with earlier application permitted. Effective January 1, 2018, the Company adopted the amendments to IFRS 3. The adoption of this amendment had no impact on the Company as no business combinations occurred during the three and six months ended June 30, 2020.

No other new standards, interpretations or amendments were adopted during the three and six months ended June 30, 2020.

ACCOUNTING STANDARDS AND AMENDMENTS ISSUED BUT NOT YET APPLIED

The Company is not aware of any proposed accounting standards or amendments that would have a significant effect on the condensed consolidated interim financial Statements.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

Fair values

The fair values of cash, investments, trade and other receivables, loans receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities and deferred revenue approximate their carrying values due to the relatively short-term nature of these financial instruments. The fair value of long-term debt, lease contract liability, deferred payment liability and convertible debentures is based on observable market data and the calculation of discounted cash flows. Discount rates were determined based on current terms and conditions observed in the credit market.

The Company follows a three-tier categorization for its financial instruments as a framework for disclosing fair value based upon inputs used to value the Company's investments. The hierarchy is summarized as:

- Level 1 – quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets and liabilities
- Level 2 – inputs that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (prices) or indirectly (derived from prices) from observable market data
- Level 3 – inputs for assets and liabilities not based upon observable market data

As at June 30, 2020, the investment in Addicting Games is accounted for at level 3, see note 6 to the condensed consolidated interim financial statements for further information.

Total interest income and interest expense for financial assets or financial liabilities that are not at fair value through profit or loss can be summarized as follows:

	For the three months ended		For the six months ended
	June 30, 2020	June 30, 2019	June 30, 2020	June 30, 2019

Net interest expense	$ 1,346,517	$ 431,855	$ 2,610,255	$ 748,154

The Company thoroughly examines the various financial instrument risks to which it is exposed and assesses the impact and likelihood of those risks. These risks may include credit risk, liquidity risk, foreign currency risk, interest rate risk and market risk.

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the Company if a customer or counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its obligations.

The Company's maximum exposure to credit risk for its trade receivables is summarized as follows:

	June 30, 2020	December 31, 2019
Trade receivables aging:
0-30 days	$ 2,938,094	$ 3,774,074
31-60 days	213,796	986,702
61-90 days	90,332	118,983
Greater than 90 days	399,121	636,258

Management Discussion and Analysis

For the Three and Six Months Ended June 30, 2020

The following default rates, determined based on historical default rates based on the aging of trade receivables, are used to calculate the expected credit loss provision on trade receivables as at June 30, 2020:

	Total	Not past due	Over 30 days past due	Over 60 days past due	Over 90 days past due
Default rates		1.36%	1.67%	3.05%	76.96%
Trade receivables	$ 3,641,343	$ 2,938,094	213,796	$ 90,332	$ 399,121
Expected credit loss provision	$ 353,506	$ 40,009	$ 3,565	$ 2,756	$ 307,176

All of the Company's cash is held with a major Canadian financial institution and thus the exposure to credit risk is considered insignificant. Management actively monitors the Company's exposure to credit risk under its financial instruments.

Concentration risk

The Company has one customer which makes up more than 10% of revenue, this customer accounts for approximately 19.89% of trade receivables as at June 30, 2020 and 24.08% of revenues for the six months ended June 30, 2020.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will not be able to meet its obligations associated with financial liabilities. The Company has a planning and budgeting process in place by which it anticipates and determines the funds required to support its normal operating requirements. The Company coordinates this planning and budgeting process with its financing activities through its capital management process.

The Company holds sufficient cash and working capital, maintained through stringent cash flow management, to ensure sufficient liquidity is maintained. Maturity analysis of liabilities which are due in next twelve months can be summarized as follows:

	June 30, 2020	December 31, 2019
Accounts payable and accrued liabilities	$ 6,527,396	$ 7,423,396
Deferred revenue	1,347,994	1,647,594
Income tax payable	-	2,415
Deferred payment liability	1,384,032	1,208,413
Current portion of lease contract liability	153,318	193,366
	$ 9,412,740	$ 10,475,184

Foreign currency risk

A large portion of the Company's transactions occur in foreign currencies (mainly in US dollars and UK pound sterling) and, therefore, the Company is exposed to foreign currency risk at the end of the reporting period through its US and UK denominated trade receivables, accounts payable and cash. As at June 30, 2020, a 10% depreciation or appreciation of the U.S. dollar and UK pound sterling against the Canadian dollar would have resulted in an approximate $21,000 and $133,000 decrease or increase, respectively, in total loss and comprehensive loss.

Interest rate risk

The Company's long-term debt bears interest at prime rate plus 5.05%. Fluctuations in the prime rate will result in changes to the months interest expense. A change in the annual interest rate of 0.50% on the Initial Advance and Further Advance will result in a $100,000 change in the annual interest expense.

COMMITMENTS

The Company has the following payment commitments with respect to advertising and promotion and other contractual obligations:

Not later than one year	$	891,000
Later than one year and not later than five years		-
	$	891,000

The Company intends to issue common shares valued at USD $350,000 to settle a portion of the commitments noted above.

The Company is subject to capital commitments pursuant to its investments in AIG Canada and AIG USA, as well as Surge eSports LLC which is being established under a similar structure. If the Company fails to make any capital contributions for capital calls it may be subject to certain actions including the loss of rights or a reduction in necessary equity in order to satisfy the capital call requirement.

MANAGEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR FINANCIAL REPORTING

Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with IFRS. Any system of internal control over financial reporting, no matter how well designed, has inherent limitations. Therefore, even those systems determined to be effective can provide only reasonable assurance with respect to financial statement preparation and presentation. Based on a review of the Company's internal control procedures, the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer believe its internal controls and procedures are appropriately designed as at June 30, 2020.

There have been no material changes in the Company's internal control over financial reporting during the six months ended June 30, 2020 that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, internal control over financial reporting.

Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Management is also responsible for the design and effectiveness of disclosure controls and procedures to provide reasonable assurance that material information related to the Company, including its consolidated subsidiaries, which is required to be disclosed by the Company in its filings or required to be submitted by the Company under securities legislation is recorded, processed and summarized and reported within specified time periods. The Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer have each evaluated the design of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures as at June 30, 2020, and have concluded that these controls and procedures were appropriately designed.

For the Three and Six Months Ended June 30, 2020

OTHER RISKS AND UNCERTAINTY

Investors should carefully consider the risks and uncertainties described above and in the financial statements. The risks and uncertainties described in the Company's financial statements and MD&A are not the only ones it faces. Additional risks and uncertainties, including those that the Company does not know about now or that it currently deems immaterial, may also adversely affect its business.

Risks and uncertainties include the following:

Enthusiast has a limited operating history

The Company was incorporated on August 27, 2018. The Company's lack of operating history may make it difficult for investors to evaluate its prospects for success and there is no guarantee that its business model will continue to achieve its strategic objectives. There is no assurance that the Company will be successful and the likelihood of success must be considered in light of its relatively early stage of operation.

Uncertainty of future revenues

Although management is optimistic about the Company's prospects, there is no guarantee that expected outcomes and sustainable revenue streams will be achieved. The Company faces risks frequently encountered by early-stage entities. In particular, its growth and prospects depend on its ability to expand its operation and grow its revenue streams whilst at the same time maintaining effective cost controls. Any failure to expand is likely to have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's business, financial condition and results.

Enthusiast cannot be certain that additional financing will be available on reasonable terms when required, or at all

From time to time, the Company may need additional financing. Its ability to obtain additional financing, if and when required, will depend on investor demand, the Company's operating performance, the condition of the capital markets, and other factors. The Company cannot assure investors that additional financing will be available to it on favourable terms when required, or at all. If the Company raises additional funds through the issuance of equity, equity-linked or debt securities, those securities may have rights, preferences, or privileges senior to the rights of its common shares, and existing shareholders may experience dilution.

Enthusiast has grown and plans to continue to grow at a rapid pace

Enthusiast's business has grown rapidly since its inception. If the Company continues its rapid growth, it may incur additional expenses, and its growth may place a strain on resources, infrastructure, and ability to maintain the quality of its offerings. The Company's inability to properly manage or support its growth could have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's business, financial condition and results of operations and could cause the market value of the Resulting Issuer Shares to decline.

Reliance on advertisers for revenue

The Company relies on advertisers to purchase inventory from the Company's platform of digital media publishers and advertising related to its Expo for future revenue. The Company's inability to secure contracts for advertising revenues may have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition, and results of operations. Additionally, this is a relatively new and rapidly evolving industry and as such, it is difficult to predict the prospects for growth. There is no assurance that advertisers will continue to increase their purchases of online advertising or that the supply of advertising inventory on gaming digital media properties will not exceed the demand. If the industry grows more slowly than anticipated or Enthusiast's existing products and services lose, or its new products and services fail to achieve, market acceptance, Enthusiast may be unable to achieve its strategic business objectives, which could have a material adverse effect on its prospects, business, financial condition or results of operation.

For the Three and Six Months Ended June 30, 2020

Enthusiast depends on third parties, including users and content providers

Enthusiast is reliant to an extent on third parties, including content providers, users, and affiliate network publishers. Enthusiast's success is partially dependent on its ability to attract and retain quality content providers. There can be no assurance that these business relationships will continue to be maintained or that new ones will be successfully formed. A breach or disruption in these relationships or failure to engage contractors could be detrimental to the future business, operating results and/or profitability of Enthusiast. Moreover, Enthusiast's financial performance will be significantly determined by its success in adding, retaining, and engaging active users of its platform of digital media properties. If users do not perceive Enthusiast's content as interesting, unique and useful, Enthusiast may not be able to attract or retain additional users, which could adversely affect the business.

Enthusiast may be unable to complete favourable acquisitions

As part of Enthusiast's business strategy, it may attempt to acquire businesses that it believes are a strategic fit with its business, such as gaming digital media publishers. Enthusiast may not be able to complete such acquisitions on favourable terms, if at all. Any future acquisitions may result in unforeseen operating difficulties and expenditures and may absorb significant management attention that would otherwise be available for ongoing development of its business. Since Enthusiast may not be able to accurately predict these difficulties and expenditures, these costs may outweigh the value it realizes from a future acquisition, and any acquisition Enthusiast completes could be viewed negatively by its advertisers. Future acquisitions could result in issuances of securities that would dilute shareholders' ownership interest, the incurrence of debt, contingent liabilities, amortization of expenses related to other intangible assets, and the incurrence of large, immediate write-offs.

Limited long-term agreements for advertising revenue

The Company's success requires it to maintain and expand its current advertising revenue-generating relationships and to develop new relationships. The Company's contracts that help drive advertising revenue generally do not include long-term obligations requiring third parties to purchase Enthusiast's inventory and services or Enthusiast to market their advertising inventory. As a result, Enthusiast may have limited visibility as to its future advertising revenue streams. Enthusiast cannot ensure its advertising revenue generating sources will continue to operate or that Enthusiast will be able to replace, in a timely or effective manner, departing clients with new sources that generate comparable revenue. Any non-renewal, renegotiation, cancellation or deferral of significant advertising contracts that in the aggregate account for a significant amount of revenue, could have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's prospects, business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Brand development

The brand identity that Enthusiast has developed has significantly contributed to the success of its business. Maintaining and enhancing the "Enthusiast" brand is critical to expanding Enthusiast's user base, network of publishers, and advertisers. Enthusiast believes that the importance of brand recognition will increase due to the relatively low barrier to entry in the industry. The "Enthusiast" brand may be negatively impacted by a number of factors, including software malfunctions, delivery of incorrect information, and data privacy and security issues. If Enthusiast fails to maintain and enhance its brand, or if Enthusiast incurs excessive expenses in this effort, it could have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's prospects, business, financial condition, and results of operations. Maintaining and enhancing the "Enthusiast" brand will depend largely on Enthusiast's ability to continue to provide high-quality products and services, which Enthusiast may not continue to do successfully.

The loss of one or more of Enthusiast's key personnel, or its failure to attract and retain other highly qualified personnel in the future, could harm its business

Enthusiast currently depends on the continued services and performance of its key personnel. The loss of key personnel, including members of management as well as other key personnel, could disrupt Enthusiast's operations and have an adverse effect on its business and customer relationships. Additionally, Enthusiast's success depends on the efforts and abilities of management to attract and retain qualified personnel to manage operations and growth. Failure to attract key individuals may have an adverse effect on the business, operations, and results.

Natural disaster, terrorist acts and other disruptions and dislocations

Upon the occurrence of a natural disaster, or upon an incident of war, riot or civil unrest, the impacted country may not efficiently and quickly recover from such event, which could have a materially adverse effect on the Company or the securities or businesses in which we or they are invested. Terrorist attacks, public health crises including epidemics, pandemics or outbreaks of new infectious disease or viruses (including, most recently, the novel coronavirus (SAR-CoV-2), and related events can result in volatility and disruption to global supply chains, operations, mobility of people and the financial markets, which could affect interest rates, credit ratings, credit risk, inflation, business, financial conditions, results of operations and other factors relevant to the Company.

In early March 2020, the World Health Organization declared the outbreak of the novel strain of the coronavirus, specifically identified as SARS-CoV-2, to be a pandemic. Responses to the SARS-CoV-2 outbreak have resulted in governments worldwide enacting emergency measures to combat the spread of the virus, causing disruptions to business operations worldwide and a significant increase in economic uncertainty, with more volatile commodity prices and currency exchange rates, and a marked decline in long-term interest rates. These events are resulting in a challenging economic climate in which it is difficult to reliably estimate the length or severity of these developments and their financial impact. The Company is monitoring developments of the SARS-CoV-2 outbreak and will adapt its business plans accordingly.

Risk Factors Related to Enthusiast's Business Model and Use of Technology

The adtech and programmatic optimization tools utilized by Enthusiast are highly technical, and if not utilized properly, Enthusiast's business could be adversely affected

The adtech and programmatic optimization tools utilized by Enthusiast enable Enthusiast to target advertisements by a number of factors, including age, gender, income, occupation, etc. There can be no assurance that the adtech and programmatic optimization tools utilized by Enthusiast will not be enhanced or rendered obsolete by advances in technology, or that Enthusiast will be able to utilize the adtech or programmatic tools necessary to remain competitive. This could have an adverse effect on Enthusiast's business, operations and financial condition. Moreover, the adtech and programmatic optimization tools utilized by Enthusiast are highly technical and complex and may now or in the future contain, undetected errors, bugs, or vulnerabilities which may result in unsuccessful advertising campaigns. Any unsuccessful advertising campaigns could result in damage to Enthusiast's reputation, loss of users, loss of revenue, or liability for damages, any of which could adversely affect Enthusiast's business and financial results.

Users may use ad-blockers

The success of Enthusiast's business model depends on its ability to deliver targeted, highly relevant ads to users of Enthusiast's platform of digital media properties. Targeted advertising is done primarily through analysis of data, much of which is collected on the basis of user-provided permissions. This data might include a user's location, or data collected when users view an advertisement or when they click on or otherwise engage with an advertisement. Users may elect not to allow data sharing for targeted advertising for a number of reasons, such as privacy concerns. In addition, companies are constantly developing products that enable users to prevent advertisements from appearing on their web browsers. Wider adoption of these products could have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's prospects, business, financial conditions, and results of operations.

For the Three and Six Months Ended June 30, 2020

Enthusiast IP may be subject to misappropriation

Protection of Enthusiast's trademarks and domain names are important to its success. Enthusiast currently protects its IP rights by relying on common law rights. These steps may not be sufficient to prevent the misappropriation of Enthusiast's proprietary information or deter independent development of similar products and services by others.

In the future, should Enthusiast proceed to register its IP, it would be a process that is likely expensive and time consuming and ultimately, it may not be successful in registering its IP. The absence of registered IP rights, or the failure to obtain such registrations in the future, may result in Enthusiast being unable to successfully prevent its competitors from imitating its products, services, and processes. Such imitation may lead to increased competition. Even if Enthusiast's IP rights were registered, its IP rights may not be sufficiently comprehensive to prevent its competitors from developing similar competitive products, services, and processes.

Litigation may be necessary to enforce Enthusiast's IP rights. Litigation of this nature, regardless of the outcome, could result in substantial costs, adverse publicity or diversion of management and technical resources, any of which could adversely affect Enthusiast's business and operating results. Moreover, due to the differences in foreign laws concerning proprietary rights, Enthusiast's IP may not receive the same degree of protection in foreign countries as it would in Canada or the United States. Enthusiast's failure to possess, obtain or maintain adequate protection of its IP rights for any reason could have a material adverse effect on its business, results of operations, and financial condition.

Enthusiast may face allegations that it has infringed the trademarks, copyrights, patents, and other IP rights of third parties, including from its competitors and former employers of Enthusiast's personnel.

If Enthusiast's products, services, or solutions employ subject matter that is claimed under its competitors' IP, those companies may bring infringement actions against Enthusiast. Whether a product infringes a patent or other IP right involves complex legal and factual issues, the determination of which is often uncertain.

Infringement and other IP claims, with or without merit, can be expensive and time consuming to litigate, and the results are difficult to predict. Enthusiast may not have the financial and human resources to defend against any infringement suits that may be brought. As the result of any court judgment or settlement, Enthusiast may be obligated to stop offering certain features, pay royalties or significant settlement costs, purchase licenses or modify its software and features, or develop substitutes.

Enthusiast's business is highly competitive. Competition presents an ongoing threat to the success of its business

The digital media advertising market is highly competitive and quickly changing. Enthusiast faces competition from a variety of digital media publishers all over the world. Some of Enthusiast's current and potential competitors have significantly greater resources and better competitive positions in certain markets than Enthusiast does. These factors may allow Enthusiast's competitors to respond more effectively than Enthusiast to new or emerging technologies and changes in market requirements. Including changes to government regulation.

There is no certainty that Enthusiast's competitors will not develop similar or superior services which may render Enthusiast uncompetitive. Certain competitors have more established relationships and greater financial resources and they can use their resources against Enthusiast in a variety of competitive ways, including by making acquisitions, investing aggressively in research and development, and competing aggressively for advertisers, technologies, digital media rights, websites, and applications. If competitors are more successful than Enthusiast in developing compelling products and engaging content or in attracting and retaining users, advertisers, and digital media rights, Enthusiast's revenues, growth rates, and the value of its digital assets could be negatively affected. There is no assurance that Enthusiast will be able to maintain its position in the marketplace.

Regulation

Enthusiast is subject to general business regulations and laws as well as regulations and laws specifically governing gaming and the internet. Existing and future laws and regulations may impede Enthusiast's growth strategies. These regulations and laws may cover taxation, privacy, data protection, pricing, content, copyrights, distribution, consumer protection, web services, websites, and the characteristics and quality of products and services. Unfavourable changes in regulations and laws could decrease demand for Enthusiast's digital media properties and inventory and increase its cost of doing business or otherwise have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's reputation, popularity, results of operations, and financial condition.

Enthusiast's management team has limited experience managing a public company, and regulatory compliance may divert its attention from the day-to-day management of its business

The individuals who now constitute Enthusiast's management team have limited experience managing a publicly-traded company and limited experience complying with the increasingly complex laws pertaining to public companies. Enthusiast's management team may not successfully or efficiently manage a public company that is subject to significant regulatory oversight and reporting obligations.

The requirements of being a public company may strain the Resulting Issuer's resources, divert management's attention and affect its ability to attract and retain executive management and qualified board members

As a reporting issuer, the Resulting Issuer will be subject to the reporting requirements of applicable securities legislation of the jurisdiction in which it is a reporting issuer, the listing requirements of the TSXV and other applicable securities rules and regulations. Compliance with these rules and regulations will increase the Resulting Issuer's legal and financial compliance costs, make some activities more difficult, time consuming or costly and increase demand on its systems and resources. Applicable securities laws require the Resulting Issuer to, among other things, file certain annual and quarterly reports with respect to its business and results of operations. In addition, applicable securities laws require the Resulting Issuer to, among other things, maintain effective disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting. In order to maintain and, if required, improve its disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting to meet this standard, significant resources and management oversight may be required. Specifically, due to the increasing complexity of its transactions, it is anticipated that the Resulting Issuer will improve its disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting primarily through the continued development and implementation of formal policies, improved processes and documentation procedures, as well as the sourcing of additional finance resources. As a result, management's attention may be diverted from other business concerns, which could harm the Resulting Issuer's business and results of operations. To comply with these requirements, Enthusiast may need to hire more employees in the future or engage outside consultants, which will increase its costs and expenses.

In addition, changing laws, regulations and standards relating to corporate governance and public disclosure are creating uncertainty for public companies, increasing legal and financial compliance costs and making some activities more time consuming. These laws, regulations and standards are subject to varying interpretations, in many cases due to their lack of specificity, and, as a result, their application in practice may evolve over time as new guidance is provided by regulatory and governing bodies. This could result in continuing uncertainty regarding compliance matters and higher costs necessitated by ongoing revisions to disclosure and governance practices.

Enthusiast intends to continue to invest resources to comply with evolving laws, regulations and standards, and this investment may result in increased general and administrative expenses and a diversion of management's time and attention from revenue generating activities to compliance activities. If its efforts to comply with new laws, regulations and standards differ from the activities intended by regulatory or governing bodies due to ambiguities related to their application and practice, regulatory authorities may initiate legal proceedings against the Resulting Issuer and the Resulting Issuer's business may be adversely affected.

Enthusiast Gaming Holdings Inc. (formerly J55 Capital Corp.)

Management Discussion and Analysis

As a public company subject to these rules and regulations, the Resulting Issuer may find it more expensive for it to obtain director and officer liability insurance, and it may be required to accept reduced coverage or incur substantially higher costs to obtain coverage. These factors could also make it more difficult for the Resulting Issuer to attract and retain qualified members of its board of directors, particularly to serve on its audit committee and compensation committee, and qualified executive officers.

As a result of disclosure of information in filings required of a public company, Enthusiast's business and financial condition will become more visible, which may result in threatened or actual litigation, including by competitors and other third parties. If such claims are successful, the Resulting Issuer's business and results of operations could be harmed, and even if the claims do not result in litigation or are resolved in its favor, these claims, and the time and resources necessary to resolve them, could divert the resources of the Resulting Issuer's management and harm its business and results of operations.

Reliance on third party owned communication networks

The delivery of Enthusiast's products and services and a significant portion of Enthusiast's revenues are dependent on the continued use and expansion of third party owned communication networks, including wireless networks and the internet.

No assurance can be given of the continued use and expansion of these networks as a medium of communications for Enthusiast.

Effective delivery of Enthusiast's products and services through the internet is dependent on Internet service providers continuing to expand high-speed Internet access, maintaining reliable networks with the necessary speeds, data capacity and security, and developing complementary products and services for providing reliable and timely access and services. Changes in access fees (for example, revising the application of bandwidth caps or other metered usage schemes) to users may adversely affect the ability or willingness of users to access Enthusiast's content. Changes in access fees to distributors, such as Enthusiast or its service providers, or a departure from "net neutrality" (the principle that all forms of Internet traffic (including video, voice, and text) are subject to equal treatment in transmission speed and quality) or its governing regulations, could result in increased costs to Enthusiast. All of these factors are out of Enthusiast's control and manifestation of any of them could ultimately have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's prospects, business, financial condition or results of operations.

In addition, increasing traffic, user numbers or bandwidth requirements may result in a decline in Internet (or a subset thereof, including in particular mobile Internet) performance and/or reliability. Internet outages, delays or loss of network connectivity may result in partial or total failure of Enthusiast's services, additional and unexpected expenses to fund further product development or to add programming personnel to complete a development project, or the loss of revenue because of the inability of users to access Enthusiast's network of digital properties, any of which could have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's prospects, business, financial condition or results of operations.

Security of Enthusiast's digital media properties

Enthusiast cannot guarantee absolute protection against unauthorized attempts to access its IT systems, including malicious third-party applications or denial of service attacks that may interfere with or exploit security flaws in its digital media properties. Viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs could jeopardize the security of information stored in a user's computer or in Enthusiast's computer systems or attempt to change the internet experience of users by interfering with Enthusiast's ability to connect with a user. If any compromise to Enthusiast's security measures were to occur and Enthusiast's efforts to combat this breach were unsuccessful, Enthusiast's reputation may be harmed leading to an adverse effect on Enthusiast's financial condition and future prospects.

The price of the securities of the Resulting Issuer may fluctuate significantly, which may make it difficult for holders of securities of the Resulting Issuer to sell their securities at a time or price they find attractive

The Resulting Issuer's stock price may fluctuate significantly as a result of a variety of factors, many of which are beyond its control. In addition to those described under "Forward Looking Information" these factors include:

- actual or anticipated quarterly fluctuations in its operating results and financial condition;
- changes in financial estimates or publication of research reports and recommendations by financial analysts with respect to it or other financial institutions;
- reports in the press or investment community generally or relating to the Resulting Issuer's reputation or the industry in which it operates;
- strategic actions by the Resulting Issuer or its competitors, such as acquisitions, restructurings, dispositions, or financings;
- fluctuations in the stock price and operating results of the Resulting Issuer's competitors;
- future sales of the Resulting Issuer's equity or equity-related securities;
- proposed or adopted regulatory changes or developments; and
- domestic and international economic factors unrelated to the Resulting Issuer's performance.

In addition, in recent years, the stock market in general has experienced extreme price and volume fluctuations. This volatility has had a significant effect on the market price of securities issued by many companies, including for reasons unrelated to their operating performance. These broad market fluctuations may adversely affect the Resulting Issuer's stock price, notwithstanding the Resulting Issuer's operating results. Enthusiast expects that the market price of the Resulting Issuer Shares will fluctuate and there can be no assurances about the market prices of such shares.

Enthusiast does not know whether an active, liquid and orderly trading market will develop for the securities of the Resulting Issuer or what the market price of the securities of the Resulting Issuer will be and as a result it may be difficult for investors to sell their securities of the Resulting Issuer

An active trading market for securities of the Resulting Issuer may never develop or be sustained following the Amalgamation. The lack of an active market may impair an investor's ability to sell their securities of the Resulting Issuer at the time they wish to sell them or at a price that they consider reasonable. The lack of an active market may also reduce the fair market value of an investor's securities of the Resulting Issuer. Further, an inactive market may also impair the Resulting Issuer's ability to raise capital by selling securities of the Resulting Issuer and may impair its ability to enter into collaborations or acquire companies or products by using securities of the Resulting Issuer as consideration. The market price of securities of the Resulting Issuer may be volatile, and an investor could lose all or part of their investment.

Enthusiast does not intend to pay dividends on the Resulting Issuer Shares for the foreseeable future

Enthusiast currently does not plan to declare dividends on the Resulting Issuer Shares in the foreseeable future. Any determination to pay dividends in the future will be at the discretion of the board of directors of the Resulting Issuer. Consequently, an investor's only opportunity to achieve a return on the investment in the Resulting Issuer will be if the market price of the Resulting Issuer Shares appreciates and the investor sells shares at a profit. There is no guarantee that the price of the Resulting Issuer Shares that will prevail in the market after the Amalgamation will ever exceed the price that an investor paid.

If research analysts do not publish research about the Resulting Issuer's business or if they issue unfavourable commentary or downgrade the Resulting Issuer Shares, the Resulting Issuer's stock price and trading volume could decline

The trading market for the securities of the Resulting Issuer may depend in part on the research and reports that research analysts publish about the Resulting Issuer and its business. If the Resulting Issuer does not maintain adequate research coverage, or if one or more analysts who covers the Resulting Issuer downgrades its stock, or publishes inaccurate or unfavourable research about the Resulting Issuer's business, the price of the Resulting Issuer Shares could decline. If one or more of the research analysts ceases to cover the Resulting Issuer or fails to publish reports on it regularly, demand for securities of the Resulting Issuer could decrease, which could cause the Resulting Issuer's stock price or trading volume to decline.

Currency fluctuations

Enthusiast's reporting currency is Canadian dollars but an increasing proportion of Enthusiast's revenue may be earned and expenses may be incurred in other currencies, including the US dollar. The movement of the US dollar against the Canadian dollar could have a material adverse effect on Enthusiast's prospects, business, financial condition, and results of operation.

Historical Losses and Negative Operating Cash Flows

Enthusiast has a history of operating losses and may generate continued operating losses and negative cash flows in the future while it carries out its current business plan to further develop and expand its network of digital media properties. Enthusiast has made significant up-front investments in acquiring significant digital media assets, marketing, and general and administrative expenses in order to rapidly develop and expand its business. The successful development and commercialization of these operations will depend on a number of significant financial, logistical, technical, marketing, legal, competitive, economic and other factors, the outcome of which cannot be predicted. There is no guarantee that Enthusiast's operations will be profitable or produce positive cash flow or that Enthusiast will be successful in generating significant revenues in the future or at all. While Enthusiast can utilize cash and cash equivalents to fund its operating and growth expenditures, it does not have access to significant committed credit facilities or other committed sources of funding. Enthusiast's inability to ultimately generate sufficient revenues to become profitable and have positive cash flows could have a material adverse effect on its prospects, business, financial condition, results of operations or overall viability as an operating business.
